

PORSCHE

MOTORSPORT
ASIA PACIFIC

31/05/2018

Porsche Motorsport Asia Pacific ready for next round of the China GT Championship and Thailand Super Series

Porsche Motorsport Asia Pacific supported racing programmes continue this weekend, as the China GT Championship heads to the Zhejiang International Circuit, while the Chang International Circuit hosts the Thailand Super Series.

Round two of the 2018 China GT Championship sees the series move to Zhejiang, with Team JRM representing Porsche in the GT3 class. Drivers of the #911 Porsche 911 GT3 R, Li Chao and Chris van der Drift, currently lie second in the Drivers' Championship after scoring a double podium at the season-opener.

A second GT3-spec Porsche 911 is also entered for Min Heng and Li Jiaqi who, sharing the #991 car, are currently second position in the Am class standings. The GTC class sees Porsche China Junior Daniel Lu join gentleman driver Wang Tao in the R+ Racing 911 GT3 Cup car.

Porsche's single-make Cayman GT4 Trophy Thailand also continues this weekend, as part of the Thailand Super Series at Buriram. Since the opening round at Sepang, Racing Spirit Thailand, JWD-Unixx and Morseng Racing have all competed at the Thai circuit already this year, as part of an invitational held in partnership with the Blancpain GT Series Asia round.

JWD-Unixx driver Charvanin Bunditkitsada was victorious in both races in Malaysia, and will be looking to add to his tally this time out. Kmik Karansuta (AAS Motorsport) was Bunditkitsada's closest competitor, with a pair of runner-up finishes, while Sontaya Kunplome (Racing Spirit Thailand), Tosaphol Phamyai (Morseng Racing Team) and Pasu Liptapanlop (AAS Motorsport) will all also be aiming to challenge.

Alexandre Gibot, Head of Porsche Motorsport Asia Pacific, said: “We are looking forward to the upcoming rounds of the China GT Championship and Thailand Super Series. Team JRM put on a very strong showing at Zhuhai last month with their pair of Porsche 911 GT3 R, and they will be looking to climb onto the top-step of the podium this weekend. We are also following the progress of the R+ Racing GTC class entry very closely, as Porsche Carrera Cup Asia racer Daniel Lu joins Wang Tao.

“The Porsche Motorsport Asia Pacific-supported Cayman GT4 Trophy Thailand is a very exciting championship. The high level of competition is shown by three of the teams competing in the Blancpain GT Series Asia at Chang ahead of this weekend, in which Charvanin [Bunditkitsada] took a podium finish.”

About Porsche Motorsport Asia Pacific

Launched in 2017, Porsche Motorsport Asia Pacific (PMAP) provides access to Porsche’s extensive line-up of GT models to the growing market in the region. PMAP supplies technical, engineering, after sales and marketing support to teams and drivers competing in numerous championships including the Blancpain GT Series Asia, China GT Championship, Intercontinental GT Challenge and Thailand Super Series.

For more information please visit: www.porsche-motorsport-asia-pacific.com

Media enquiries: Pole Limited

Email: contact@pole.uk.com

Tel: +44 (0)20 8605 9797

Web: www.pole.uk.com

Motorsport enquiries: Alexandre Gibot

Head of Porsche Motorsport Asia Pacific

Email: alexandre.gibot@porsche.cn

Tel: +86 (0)21 6156 5830